New Donation Coordination Web site

Camp Murray, Wash. – There is a new state web site to help locate resources for areas affected by this month's storms and flooding. Individuals can go to the Washington State Emergency Management website at <http://www.emd.wa.gov> and click on the "Donation Coordination" link to see a list of requested items. For people who can supply any of the requested items, they should contact the organization or county requesting that item. For items not specifically listed on this website, they may contact 2-1-1 for information on donation sites.
